Humphrey Bogart, 56, Dies of Cancer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Humphrey Bogart, one of the movies' greatest talents and certainly its most non-conforming non-conformist, died today of cancer of the esophagus. He was 56.

As late as Saturday night, Bogie, talking optimistically with friends, gave no sign the end was so near. Sank Into Coma

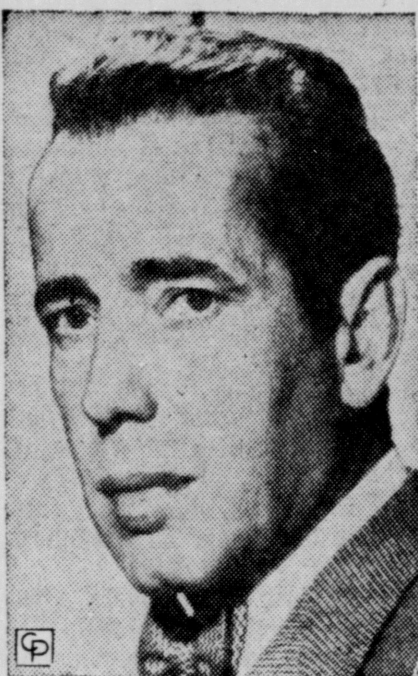

But Sunday morning he sank into a coma from which he never revived. The end came at 2:10 a.m. with one final deep sigh. At his bedside was his wife, actress Lauren Bacall.

Asleep nearby in the sprawling Holmby Hills manse were the two Bogart children, Stephen, 8, and Leslie, 4.

Thus cancer killed off the Academy Award winning star. His physician said it was a spread of the original malignancy that brought on death.

Unlike most victims of cancer in the throat area, Bogart's voice was not affected. Until the final coma, it was the same old Bogart bark that used to make the toughest screen hoodlums drop the gun. Comfortable Last Days

Bogart, though dying, had been comfortable in his last days. A recent operation had removed some scar tissue on a nerve and given him much relief.

Funeral arrangements, still pending, called for burial Wednesday or Thursday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in nearby Glendale, final resting place of many a movie great. Mrs. Bogart asked that flowers be omitted and that money instead be sent to the American Cancer Institute.

Collect $1,123 In Polio Fund

Girl Scouts Net $800 In Canvass

Contributions totaling $1,123.02 were collected in Salem during the weekend solicitations for the March of Dimes drive, according to Archie Bricker, local drive chairman.

Friday evening and Saturday, labor union members collected $283.30 on downtown streets. Kiwanis Club members collected $39 while on duty at the First National Bank parking lot on Saturday.

One hundred and forty-eight Girl Scouts who volunteered their services solicited $800.72 during the residential canvass Sunday. All money collected will go into the polio fund.

Thirty-one senior scouts and 117 intermediate scouts participated in the canvass. Assisting the scouts were Mrs. James Minamyer, chairman of the scout service committee, Mrs. William White, Mrs. Albert Johnson, Mrs. Aubrey Hayes, Mrs. Louis Manieri, Mrs. Hugh Kells, Mrs. Carl Smith, Mrs. Don Matthews, Mrs. Richard Kilbreath, Mrs. Ann Cosma, Mrs. William Chaplow, Mrs. Albert Kent, Mrs. Howard Rankin and Mrs. Raymond Mellinger. Thirty drivers transported the scouts to their respective districts.

Veterans organizations will be in charge of collections Friday and Saturday. The civic organizations will make solicitations the following weekend.

The second annual Bill Cassidy variety show will be held Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in the Salem High School auditorium. Proceeds of the show will be given to the March of Dimes fund. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children and are on sale at Heddleston's Drugstore and Fisher's News Agency.

Special prizes will be presented.

Police Investigate Two Traffic Mishaps

No one was injured in two auto accidents involving four Salem residents that occurred on city streets Saturday and Sunday, police reported.

Richard Karlis, 29, of 1234 Franklin Ave. and Harold Wykoff, 63, of 980 Franklin Ave. were involved in a mishap Sunday at 2:21 p.m. in front of Wykoff's home.

Police said Wykoff was backing his car out of a private alley when it struck Karlis' approaching vehicle.

Cars driven by Harold Secrest, 26, of 442 Sharp St. and Ernest Maenz, 17, of RD 1, Salem collided on E. State St. near S. Lincoln Ave. Saturday at 10:17 p.m.

Snow Blocks Highways In North Ohio

10-20 Inches Fall In Some Districts; Many Schools Close

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A second heavy snowfall in four days, plus near-zero temperatures, left some parts of northeastern Ohio struggling with huge masses of snow today.

The weekend storms dropped as much as 10 inches in eastern Cleveland suburbs and in Lake and Geauga counties, giving some schoolboys and girls a vacation.

Seven parochial schools in Cleveland's eastern suburbs remained closed because of the heavy snows.

Some Roads Closed

The state highway department's early weather bulletin reported some secondary roads closed by drifting snow in northeastern Ohio, and most roads throughout the state slippery in spots.

Highway crews worked during the night to keep the Ohio Turnpike clear, and driving conditions

Ike Touring Drought Area

Faces Call For More Liberal Relief Loans

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—President Eisenhower, starting a tour of the drought-seared Southwest, faced a call today from a Texas delegation for more liberal federal loans for relief of hard-hit farmers and ranchers.

Eisenhower scheduled a 22.6-mile automobile ride through the San Angelo countryside, an area that the Agriculture Department says is experiencing its worst parching in history.

After the tour the President flies to Woodward, Okla., and then to Clovis, N.M., for inspection of drought regions there. He will spend the night at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base at Tucson, Ariz., hold another breakfast parley there tomorrow morning, then take off for a look at conditions in two more states.

The Tuesday schedule calls for stops at Pueblo, Colo., Garden City, Kan., and Wichita, Kan. At Wichita, before heading back to Washington, Eisenhower will meet late in the afternoon with representatives from all the Great Plains states plagued by lack of rain and devastating wind erosion.

At that conference the President plans to speak briefly, probably to outline his views regarding possible new relief measures, after getting the recommendations of people from the region.

Eisenhower arrived in San Angelo Sunday night after a six-hour flight from the nation's capital. Returning to his native Texas, he flashed a broad smile at Good-fellow Air Force Base as a crowd estimated at up to 10,000 persons gave him a rousing cheer.

The President was accompanied by two Cabinet officers, Secretary of Agriculture Benson and Secretary of the Interior Seaton, and a staff of technical experts on the drought and relief measures.

In advance of his arrival, the regional office of the Federal Small Business Administration sponsored a conference aimed at development of proposals for relief of drought-hit farmers and ranchers. Any such measures

William O'Neill Today Becomes Ohio Governor

20,000 Expected At Inaugural Of New Officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"I, C. William O'Neill, do solemnly swear to support the constitution of the state of Ohio and faithfully discharge the duties of the office of governor of the state of Ohio; this I do as I shall answer to God."

Repeating that oath after Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the state Supreme Court, O'Neill becomes Ohio's 59th governor at noon.

Swearing-in ceremonies on the west steps of the Statehouse, punctuated by a 19-gun salute, marked the high spot in a day-long inaugural program for O'Neill and other elected Republican state officials were expected to attract 20,000 people.

The order of events called for U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker to swear in these officials ahead of O'Neill: Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, Treasurer Roger W. Tracy, Auditor James A. Rhodes, Atty. Gen. William Saxbe and Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert.

The program called for interim Gov. John W. Brown to present O'Neill with his commission. Brown filled in as governor for 11 days between Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche's resignation to become U.S. senator and O'Neill's inauguration.

O'Neill chose a blue business suit, which he said was not new, for the big event. Mrs. O'Neill selected a powder blue silk suit for herself. Their son, Charles, 10, brought the family Bible for the oath-taking.

The big day for the 40-year-old O'Neill climaxed a public career begun in 1938 when he was elected state representative from Washington County. O'Neill served six terms, one of them as House speaker, before becoming Ohio's youngest attorney general in 1950. He served in that office for three terms.

These inauguration day events stretched ahead of the new governor during the afternoon following a public luncheon in Columbus' new Veterans Memorial Building.

A public reception in the Statehouse rotunda, reception for women honoring Mrs. O'Neill and wives of other state officials in the Neil House, stag smoker sponsored by the Press Club of Ohio in the Deshler-Hilton, three inauguration balls in the Neil House, Deshler Hilton and Southern hotels, ending at midnight.

Bands from 18 colleges, universities and high schools, featuring one from O'Neill's home town of Marietta, added color to the festivities.

Herbert arranged a separate afternoon oath-taking ceremony in the Ohio Senate where he presides at sessions as lieutenant governor. He previously held that office for four terms. Brown was completing his second term as lieutenant governor when he took over as interim governor.

Officers of the Senate and House called skeleton sessions to sign and send to O'Neill a salary increase bill passed at last week's opening session of the 102nd General Assembly.

O'Neill said the $20,000 a year

To Shoot Flames, Smoke Into Sky

Ohio May Have Hot Float In Inaugural Parade Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio's float in the inaugural parade should be easy to spot. If things work out as expected, it will be shooting flame and smoke high into the sky.

An inaugural official, Richard W. McCabe, a former Columbus man, explained today that a device to belch forth these pyrotechnics will be attached to the float, if safety tests prove satisfactory.

The Ohio float will represent the peacetime uses of atomic energy in the parade a week from today. But, as McCabe explained it, there won't be anything moving on it—just two figures of a man

United School Board Re-Elects Weingart

Orlan Weingart was re-elected president of the United School Board of Education at the recent organizational meeting at the school.

Other officers are: Homer Blanchard, vice president; and Homer Dorr, clerk. Both were re-elected. Meetings were scheduled for the first Monday of each month, with the February session set for Feb. 4.

Clifford Anderson Jr. of Salem, a graduate of Mt. Union College, was hired by the board as a language arts teacher to fill the vacancy created by Richard Stouffer of Homeworth who was recently inducted into the service.

Besides the officers, board members are Elmer Stamp, John Brenner and Walter Blythe.

and woman and spheres representing the atom.

"We wanted to have some animation in every float," McCabe said. "So when we came to Ohio we thought of this puff of smoke."

"The smoke might go as high as 100 feet, too," he said, "if there isn't any wind."

"As I understand it, there will be an actual explosion, every few minutes, so we're having it cleared by the fire inspector. After all, we don't want to have everybody cringing when the Ohio float goes by."

In view of the fact that the float depicts peacetime atomic uses, McCabe said it would be wrong to say that the smoke and flame represent an atomic bomb explosion.

"It's just an attention attracter," he explained. The Ohio float, incidentally, will be on the biggest vehicle in the parade. This vehicle, 407 feet long, belongs to the army and is normally used to haul atomic cannon. In fact, it's so big that the wheels operate electronically, so that they all follow the same path when a turn is made.

There is enough room on the vehicle for five other floats, and Ohio will share it with Kansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma. The other two sponsors have not yet been decided upon.

An aide to Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) called the Ohio display "the fanciest float of them all—centerpiece of the parade."

Ohio Republicans have contributed $3,000 to the cost of the float, but an additional amount will have to be added by the inauguration committee.

Proposal Would Ban Nuclear Weapon Stocks

Plan Goes To U.N.: World Control Of Missiles Is Asked

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States submitted to the U. N. today a new five-point disarmament plan which would include a ban on further stockpiling of nuclear weapons. It also calls for international control of space missiles.

The program would go into effect, however, only after an iron-clad system of controls and inspections has been established to guard against violations or evasions.

Lodge Presents Plan

The plan was laid before the General Assembly's 80-nation political committee by Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., as that body opened its general debate on the disarmament problem.

Major points of the proposal were:

1. That an agreement be reached under which all future production of fissionable materials shall be stockpiled exclusively for non weapons purposes under international inspection.

2. That nuclear test explosions be limited and later banned, if an agreement is reached to control the stockpiling of fissionable materials. Pending such an agreement, the United States would be willing to work out a system for advance notice and limited international observation of such tests. Would Limit Armes

3. That the armed forces of the United States and the Soviet Union be limited to 2½ million each and those of Britain and France to 750,000 each, if the nations concerned can agree on progressive establishment of an inspection system. This would include aerial inspection, as proposed by President Eisenhower at the summit meeting, and ground inspection at key points, as proposed by Premier Bulganin.

4. That the testing of all space missiles, including earth satellites and space platforms, be placed under international control to make sure that their future development is limited to peaceful purposes.

5. That an international inspection and control system be installed progressively to guard against surprise attacks. This would be supervised by an international agency which would be established concurrently with the beginning of the program.

Over 600 Attend Dance Program Here

More than 600 attended yesterday's performance of the Robert Joffrey Theater Dancers in the Salem High School auditorium. The program was sponsored by the Community Concert Association.

The production combined romantic ballet, dramatic dance in the Spanish style and musical comedy.

Glen Tetley, Beatrice Tompkins and Gerald Arpine headed the company. Each member was a soloist. The elfin Brunilda Ruiz was most appealing, and her husband, John Wilson, performed as pianist, dancer and singer.

Dianne Conser, Francoise Martinet and Ivan Allen completed the group. Robert Joffrey was choreographer.

The next concert in the series will be presented by the Tucson Arizona Boys Chorus. The group will appear Wednesday evening, Feb. 13, with their director and founder, Eduardo Caso.

BUSINESS MEETING SET

LISBON — A business administration meeting will be held at New Waterford High School at 12 noon, according to James L. McBride, county school superintendent.

Matters pertaining to all county schools will be discussed, McBride said.

Macmillan Names Cabinet Made Up Of Men From Eden's Government

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today named a new Cabinet made up largely of men from the Eden government which staged the abortive invasion of Egypt.

The right wing of the Conservative party—which backed former Prime Minister Eden's Suez venture—kept its dominant voice in the government.

Foreign Secretary John Selwyn

Lloyd, an architect of the Suez invasion, remained in office.

It had been generally believed Lloyd was marked for dismissal because of the Suez venture's adverse diplomatic consequences.

Richard Austen Butler, Macmillan's chief rival for the prime ministership, was reappointed government leader in the House of Commons and lord privy seal and given the additional post of home secretary. Butler was one of the few top men in the Cabinet who was cool to Eden's Suez policies.

Another forthright supporter of the Suez campaign, Peter Thorneycroft, was promoted from president of the Board of Trade to the key post of chancellor of the exchequer, Macmillan's old job.

Macmillan dropped five of Eden's Cabinet ministers. One was Defense Minister Anthony Head, whose ministry carried out the Suez invasion.

The reappointment of Lloyd stirred up the greatest controversy.

The Liberal News-Chronicle said it would be "read as militant unrepentance over Suez."

The Laborite Daily Herald said Lloyd's reappointment is a slap at the Conservative party moderates "and at world opinion." It added:

"His retention is a sign that there is to be no repentance, no apologies. It is the Premier's reply to the right-wingers. He may regret it."

Work On Columbiana Plaza Market Area Begins Today

Estimate Building Project Will Cost About $200,000

COLUMBIANA — The Kyser Construction Co. of Canfield, which has the contract for the erection of the new plaza market building in the rear of the S. Main St. site swept by fire a year ago, moved in equipment the last of the week and set up its office building and tool house preparatory to beginning work today.

Prospective completion date has been set for July 1. The new building will front 120 feet on the west side of the north-south alley in the rear of the site of the fire, and will have a length of 135 ft. along the east-west alley at the south side, which will be occupied by the A. & P. Market with a width of 62 feet.

The Ben Franklin 5 and 10 at the north side will have a width of 40 feet, and the smaller room between, which may be a drug store, a width of 18 feet. The entrances will be back 10 feet from the A. and P. frontage with a length of 125 feet.

The building will be of brick construction, and the north wall will have no permanent exterior finish for the present in view of the possibility of an addition being required within a few years. The cost will be between $200,000 and $250,000. Leases have been negotiated with the A. & P. Corp. and with Butler Brothers of Chicago for the Ben Franklin Store, but the smaller room between has not been leased.

The public is invited to the quarterly meeting of the Historical Society of Columbiana and Fairfield Township in Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church at 8:15 p.m. today, when there will be a reunion of persons who participated in the Columbiana sesquicentennial pageant, "Singing Wheels," of which a recording will be played. Refreshments will be served during a social period to follow.

C. T. NEWSOM, program chairman for the meeting of the Rotary Club at Valley Golf at 6:30 p.m. today, has arranged a Carolina program, in which speakers will dwell on the business of some other member.

Walter Shuck will talk on George Herrmann's Buick garage business, and Richard Berryman, High School coach, and Albert Ferguson, farmer east of town, on each other's calling.

John Backstrom, immediate past president, will review achievements of his term the past year at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club at Heck's at 6:30 p.m. today.

"Garden mistakes I will not make this year" will be responses to roll call at the January meeting of the Village Garden Club at the home of Mrs. Richard Mahon, 118 Court St., at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

The program will include a round table discussion on "Flowering Shrubs" by Mrs. Mount Pursifull, Jr., Mrs. Donald Evans, Mrs. Robert Bertelson, Mrs. Robert Barrow, Mrs. Clifford Orr and Mrs. Jack Fullerton. Mrs. James Renfrew will be co-hostess.

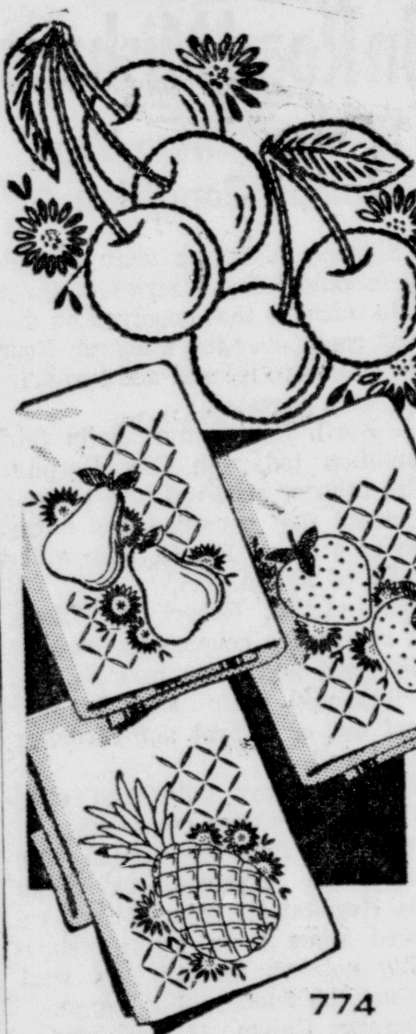

The Kindergarten Mothers Club will meet in Joshua Dixon School at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Annual guest night will be observed by the Philo Class at its meeting in the Methodist Church at 8 p.m. Thursday. Mrs. Helen Maurer and Mrs. Martha Karcher will be hostesses.

Members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority have changed the place of meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday to the home of Miss Camille Esenwein of 528 Fairfield Ave.

Steubenville Methodist district mid-winter institute for high school youth will be held in the church at Winterville, near Steubenville, next Friday and Saturday. Rev. Wilbur Meiser of the Winterville church is in charge of arrangements.

West to Seek Pact with Egypt On Suez Canal within 7 Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Powers apparently intend to make a major effort to get agreement with Egypt in the next seven weeks on some practical plan for operation of the Suez Canal.

The need for at least a provisional accord with Cairo by March 1 was stressed by both Secretary of State Dulles and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau when they met here Friday, according to information that became available today.

Diplomats believe this estimate will be accepted by the new British government of Prime Minister

Harold Macmillan. The Suez Canal, jammed during the recent fighting in Egypt, is expected to be partially cleared by March 1—enough at least to accommodate ships of up to 10,000 tons, which comprise about half the canal's tanker traffic.

From that date until the waterway is entirely free of wreckage, sometime in May, some authority must decide which ships will go through the canal, which will, and in what order of priority.

Pineau told Dulles he thought the shipping nations should make the decisions.

Diplomats said Pineau did not seek and Dulles did not give any formal commitment for a concerted plan of attack on the problem. But in general, informants said, they see eye to eye on the following points:

1. The Suez Canal Users Assn. probably should be expanded to the largest possible membership and should have a large role in future relations with Egypt over the canal.

2. A system of priorities for shipping should be handled by the users' association because Egypt is not equipped to do it.

3. The users' association could collect tolls from the shippers and pay part of the money to Egypt.

Sisters Of Charity Dedicate Hospital

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The Sisters of Charity of St. Augustine, who have operated a hospital in downtown Canton for 45 years, Sunday dedicated a new $3,700,000, 237-bed hospital farther from the center of town and overlooking Canton's park system.

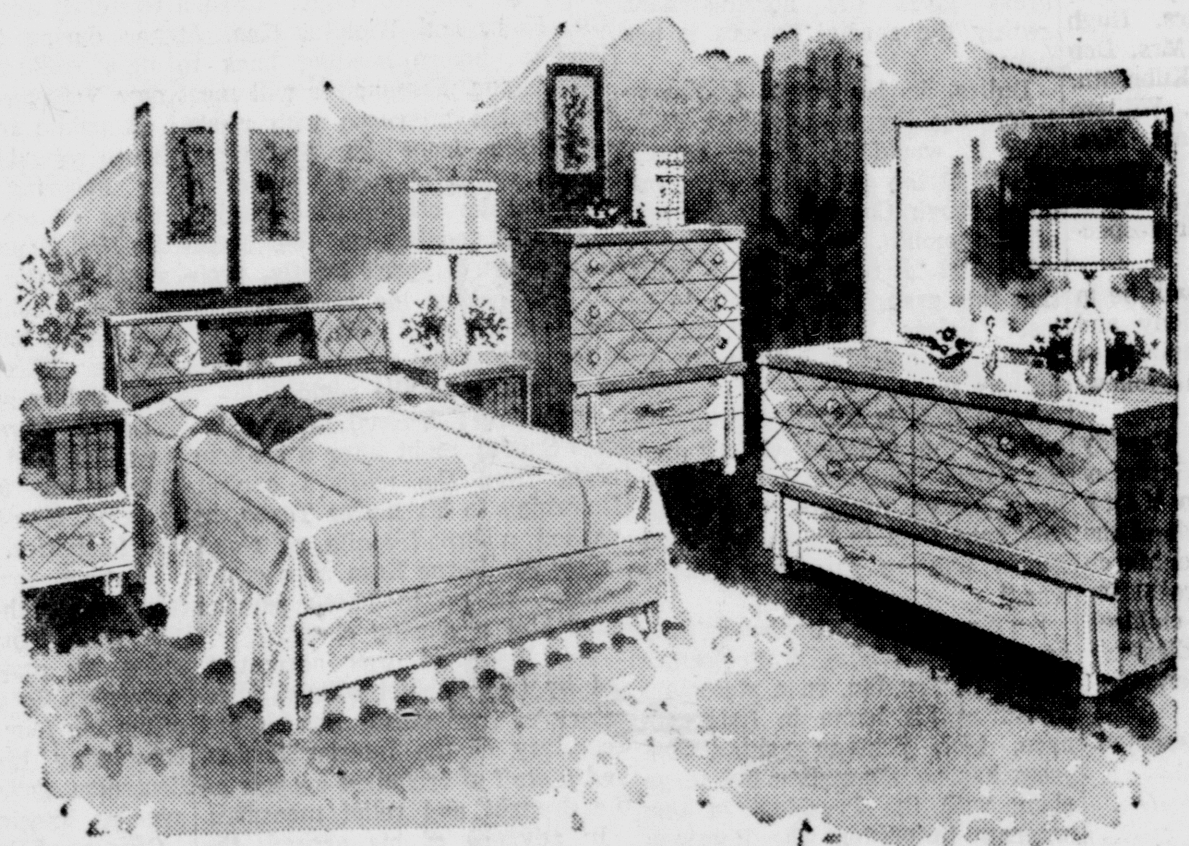

The new Timken-Mercy Hospital, which is expected to become a center for cancer treatment, will be the second hospital in the state to get a cobalt "bomb" from the Atomic Energy Commission. The "bomb" gives off rays which are used in treating cancer.

The Cleveland Clinic is the other hospital having such a device.

Bishop Emmet M. Walsh of the Youngstown diocese of the Catholic Church was the principal speaker at the dedication.

7 Held As Involved In Counterfeiting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three men and three women, some of them believed linked to a nationwide counterfeiting ring, were arrested here Sunday by Secret Service agents.

Ralph W. Robuck, special agent in charge of the Secret Service here, said some of them will be charged with aiding and abetting the passing of counterfeit bills.

At least four of them, Robuck said, are believed to be part of an organization passing counterfeit $10 bills. Robuck did not say who the four are.

The special agent identified the six as Paul T. Hutton, 28; his wife, Virginia, 28; Charles V. Shepard, 28; his wife, Sally, 18; Mrs. Hazel L. Rison, 27; and Preston T. Grose, 38.

All but Shepard said they lived in Columbus. Shepard said he was from Lexington, Ky.

Car In Front Of Him Doesn't Halt Pedestrian

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kenneth L. Lannom, a 41-year-old clerk, stopped for a red light and, he admits, the hood of his car extended a bit into the pedestrian crosswalk.

Across the street came a pedestrian described by Lannom as 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighing 250 pounds.

"He stepped up on the fender of my car, walked across the hood, and stepped off on the other side," Lannom told police.

He estimated damage to his car — a 1956 model — at $25. "I asked him why he did it," said Lannom, "and he told me: 'Your car was in the way, and I wasn't about to walk around it.'"

15 Cars Wrecked When Train Derails

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Fifteen cars of a New York Central Railroad freight train were demolished Sunday when they left the track and overturned about one-half mile east of nearby Bremen.

Fairfield County sheriff's deputies said no one was injured. They said six cars carrying stones and another nine empty hoppers were demolished. Cause of the derailment was not determined.

Summitville

The Summitville Women's Civic Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Meiser.

Speaker for the evening was Adam Rudabaugh of Lisbon.

Hostesses were Mrs. Genevieve Karaffa, Mrs. Dorothy Ellis and Mrs. Joan Meiser.

Homeworth

Clifford Gray Speaks To Lions Club

HOMEWORTH — A newly installed two-way communication system in the Knox Township patrol car was explained by Clifford Gray, Knox Township constable, at a recent meeting of the Homeworth Lions Club at the Homeworth Presbyterian Church.

Gray cited cases in which the radio played a major part.

The radio has direct communication with Columbiana, Stark, and Mahoning County sheriffs.

Plans were made to attend chapter night of the Lisbon Club Tuesday and the zone social to be held Wednesday at Lexington Grange.

Paul VanPelt gave an inspection report of the Homeworth Volunteer Fire Department and of other safety measures that have been carried out.

Ross Ickes reported progress in the sight committee and told that glasses are being purchased for two children.

Ray Carver, a guest at the meeting, volunteered to manage one of the clubs Hot Stove League baseball teams the coming season. The next meeting will be Monday, Jan. 21.

Mrs. George Worley of Lima had Mrs. Jack Worley as a guest when she entertained the Double Four Club at her home Tuesday evening. Awards at the 500 tables were won by Mrs. A. A. Rohrer, Mrs. Harry Myers and Mrs. W. J. Leo.

Mrs. Leo also held a traveling prize. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The Jan. 29 meeting will be held with Mrs. Rohrer of Homeworth.

The T. G. Club members planned for a dinner on Feb. 5 at the Virginian when they met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Rudolph Skivloche of Homeworth.

After the business session they played bingo. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 12 with Mrs. Elby Oyster of Cambridge St., Alliance.

The weed tree, scorned as a nuisance in Canada, is now discovered to be a valuable source for newsprint and corrugated board.

SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Cub Scout Pack 23

Cub Scout Pack 23 of the First Baptist Church will meet Tuesday, Jan. 22, at the church when the program theme will be "Stars."

The meeting originally scheduled for Tuesday was postponed to the Jan. 22 meeting date.

Girl Scout Troop 1

Plans for a train trip to Cleveland were discussed by members of Girl Scout Troop 1 at a meeting Tuesday night in the First Baptist Church.

The girls will attend the Ice Follies and a musical show while in Cleveland. Carol Shone was appointed to make reservations for their stay at the Cleveland Hotel.

Members planning to make the trip with Miss Shone are Mitzie Lora, leader; Kitty Purviance, Carol Lodge, Marsha Fleischer, Donna Davis, and Margaret Potts.

The next meeting will be Jan. 22 at the church.

A demonstration on "Proper Introducing" was given by Denise Duke and Kathy Karnofol, who were aided by Ruth Doyle.

The next meeting will be Jan. 23 at 7 p.m. at the home of Patty Duke of the Franklin Road.

Washingtonville

Mrs. Clark McCowin of Leetonia and Oren McClun won high scores in 500 at the benefit card party sponsored by the Pythian Sisters in the hall Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Carl Varian of Leetonia and John Hutter of Columbiana won prizes.

Mrs. Frank Evans of Leetonia has received word of the engagement of her brother, Pic. Owen Stahl, who is in the Army stationed in Germany, to Miss Helga Just, daughter of Rudolph Just and the late Mrs. Just of Karlsruhe, Germany.

No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Whistle Bait with a Wondrous Gait

(Just try today's Instant Dynaflo!)

NO MATTER what make of car you're "going with" right now—here's one that will spark a new love light in your eyes.

This Buick's a fresh new beauty in looks, in lines in sweeping contours. And a beauty in other ways as well.

Even for a Buick, this one's a joy and a treasure in the road-wise way it handles. In the way it levels with you on the turns. In the way it holds up its head whenever you give it the brakes.

But your longest whistle of sheer delight comes when you head this honey out of town and put it through its paces on the expressways and byways.

That's when you discover the exhilaration of power-pitch performance. When you fully appreciate the immediate response of the latest, greatest version of Variable Pitch Dynaflo—Instant Dynaflo.

Yet this performance is more than a matter of transmission advances.

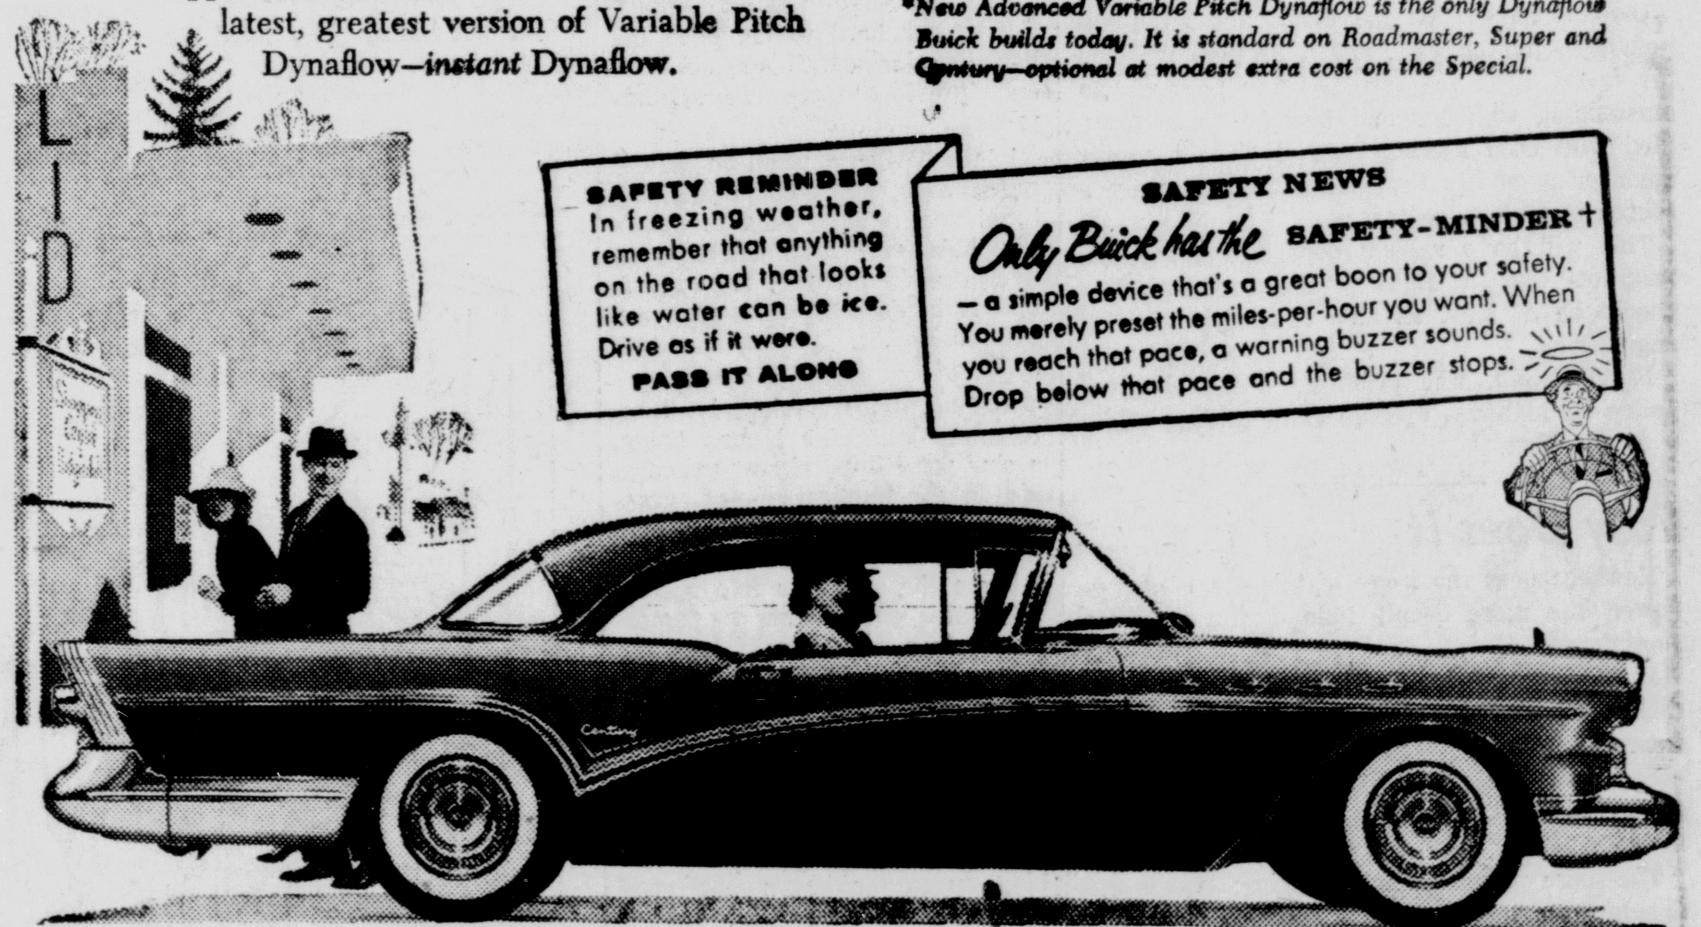

There's a whopping new 364-cubic-inch V8 engine to give it life. An engine completely brand new, all new. With 300 horsepower, 400 foot-pounds of torque, and a mileage-stretching 10 to 1 compression.

There's even more to keep you smiling—150 other brand-new features.

Including fresh decorative touches, new colors and interior trim combinations—and, of course, the extra safety and security of Buick brawn and ruggedness and solidity of construction.

So come in and go stepping with a new 1957 Buick Today.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Too Good To Waste

The high school seniors who will take final-round tests in the National Merit Scholarship program this week represent this country's most imaginative "salvage" program.

All of them, like all of the seniors who took preliminary tests, are obvious material for advanced education. The purpose of the Merit Scholarship program is to make certain that no boy or girl with exceptional capacity for college training will be lost in the shuffle.

Besides those who make it all the way to Merit Scholarship standing, every contestant is the potential beneficiary of someone's interest in his ability. Results of the tests are available to all organizations with scholarship funds to distribute and to all colleges and universities which make a practice of hand-picking the most promising applicants for admittance.

Without fanfare, the United States had abandoned anti-intellectualism. Its decision to make the most instead of the least of its mental resources was finally clinched by the realization that the Soviet Union had stolen a march on it with a state-supported scholarship program.

But even before that, U.S. enterprise had realized belatedly that a shortage of trained minds had overtaken it. Today, for the first time, a boy or girl with intellectual promise is regarded as a national asset in the United States.

Her Majesty's Man

The British technique of changing horses in midstream is a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Whatever the British do badly, and they have their weak spots, they are geniuses in government.

The genius of their collective genius is the prestige they bestow on their monarch. Queen Elizabeth's role in accepting the resignation of Sir Anthony Eden and appointing Harold Macmillan to form a new government could be performed flawlessly because there was no flaw in her authority to name a new first minister of her own choice.

The British throne, even though it has been no more than a symbol of authority for many years, is respected universally for the function it performs. When it is occupied by an individual who commands personal respect, there is no focal point of government anywhere on earth that can match it.

When it is recalled how long and furiously we bawl and bicker over periodic renewals of the mandate to govern, Britain's ability to carry off the whole business in midweek is not far short of phenomenal.

New Highway Chief

The first appointment in Gov.-elect O'Neill's blue-ribbon cabinet seems to justify the salary boosts that will be used as bait to get top-notch administrators for Ohio's major departments.

Charles M. Noble of New Jersey, who will become state highway director, appears to have all the qualifications of a top-notch. His engineering background is impressive. His recommendation by Bertram Talmy, who has been chosen to direct the federal highway construction program, assures him of a harmonious working relationship with Washington.

Ohioans have only one doubt about the appointee's qualifications, and it happens to be in his favor. It is the fact he may be such an outstanding engineer and become so preoccupied with Ohio highways as challenges to his engineering ability that politics will be only a source of annoyance to him.

This will be a radical departure from the tradition that a highway director in Ohio should be at least as able in politics as in engineering.

Billy O'Neill, who promised a new kind of policy on highways, seems to be getting off to a flying start.

Easy Does It

Nowhere does the irony of this era of super-power bite more deeply than during a winter snowstorm.

Every owner of a 200-horsepowerplus automobile remembers then, if he is old enough Henry Ford's featherweight snow and mud creepers with a planetary clutch that could be slipped to produce infinite variations of rock 'n' roll.

The more power the less traction; that is the upside-down rule for winter driving. Yet it is doubtful if one in a hundred owners of today's superpowered eights has analyzed the dynamics gone haywire of a rear wheel spinning helplessly on a glazed surface, or in a pocket of soft snow.

There is no mystery about it, just the same horse sense that once made horses set down each foot carefully on ice and that still makes human pedestrians apply traction power judiciously to avert disaster on slippery surfaces.

Easy does it. Wherever the winter sound effect of spinning auto wheels screaming a high-pitched wheeee is heard, you can bet the foot on the accelerator belongs to a power addict—the more horsepower the better.

Congress Gets Tough On Refugee Question

Congressional enthusiasm for the administration's program of admission of Hungarian refugees is beginning to sour.

Criticism — cautious because of the humanitarian element in the situation — is developing primarily as the result of mail coming to the offices on Capitol Hill.

A survey of constituents' mail indicates these four objections to the refugee program:

1. The refugees will take jobs from American-born workers and thus disrupt the economy.

2. Entry of some 25,000 Hungarian freedom fighters into the U.S. puts them an ocean away from the spot where they can do the most good; in or near Hungary, within striking distance of the Communists.

3. The "parole" section of the immigration law, under which most of the refugees are coming to the U.S., is being used illegally.

4. The refugee groups were infiltrated by Communist elements who now can work to undermine the United States.

All of these criticisms will be brought to a focus when Rep. Francis E. Walter, chairman of the House sub-committee on immigration and co-author of the basic immigration law, opens hearings on the handling of the Hungarian refugee operations.

REP. WALTER ROGERS insists that the program "will prove much more explosive than anticipated by many."

He notes that the refugees were not interested in work as domestic, and added:

"In the first place, if they were interested in escaping, it would seem to me that they would not be so choosy about their employment. In the second place, it occurs to me that a troublesome situation could develop from the importation of skilled workers to replace our own citizens in many instances."

The first group of escapees to come to the United States were primarily professionals and students. The later groups were made up of skilled workers and technicians.

So far, labor unions, which are most sensitive to such foreign competition, have made no squawk. But even a congresswoman as noted for her humanitarian concern as Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers is concerned. Mrs. Rogers says:

"We should by all means welcome these refugees in a most kind and helpful manner but we must protect our people. If they are given jobs of our workers, the economy in the United States will be in a very bad way and our people will be in want."

THE "DISPERSAL" argument

Sly As A What?

By TRUMAN TWILL

There is a move afoot to discourage comparisons between people and animals, and I want to get in step with it.

According to the blurb, the American Guild of Animal Artists is behind the move. But it is not really necessary to have a direct interest to realize that animals should not be downgraded by linking them up with the worst qualities of the two-legged genus that walks and talks like a man.

A woman is not a cat, nor is a man a dog. Men do not act like cows, crows, hippopotamuses and sea lions. A person is not sick as a dog, hungry as a horse, or sly as a fox.

That is the sort of thing which needs to be discouraged, according to the Guild of Animal Artists.

It is not hard to do, once the light has dawned. This is not difficult, provided there are animals present.

In the Twillery, when an animal misbehaves, goes off, conks out, turns into a slob, fails to do its own housework, or behaves in an irresponsible manner, it never is told it is acting like a skunk, a wolf, a dog, a jackass, a sheep, or a cat.

Instead, its behavior is compared to that of a human being, a slur sometimes almost unbearable in its implications of gross misbehavior and lack of competence.

When the sheep go into a tizzy and crush one another by bunching up in a narrow gate, they are advised not to behave like human females in a bargain basement.

When the cats are promoting something to eat by undulating about the ankles of someone in the kitchen they are told to quit acting like junior executives rubbing up to the boss's wife at a cocktail party.

When the geese gabble off at length about nothing at all, they are reminded how much they sound like any one of a half dozen men and women whose names are well known in the household.

And when the dogs, who are underfoot 24 hours a day, every day in the year, get out of line they are not upbraided for acting like dogs, which is all that can be expected, but for acting like certain well known public officials, rabble-rousers, terrorists and other notable men and women.

As everyone who has been reading this column a long time was reflected by Rep. Alvin M. Bentley who notes that the "refugees would certainly have been the leaders of future resistance or opposition to the Communist regime if they had remained behind."

"Under the operation of the refugee program, they are being scattered to the four corners of the globe . . . should not some thought be given to the possibility that by this dispersal we are harming the effectiveness of future anti-Communist resistance in Hungary?"

Some 6,300 of the refugees came to this country under entry visas granted under the refugee relief act which expired the end of last year. About 15,000 were admitted under the "parole system" outlined in paragraph 5, section 212 (D) of the act. Some 6,000 more are expected to enter under the same provision.

The complaints about the use of this section to grant entrance to the political refugees is based on the history of the section.

The report of the House committee in 1952 dealing with the section states:

"The committee believes that the broader discretionary authority (granted in the bill) is necessary to permit the attorney general to parole inadmissible aliens into the United States in emergency cases, such as the case of an alien who requires immediate medical attention before there has been an opportunity for an immigration officer to inspect him and in cases where it is strictly in the public interest to have an inadmissible alien present in the United States, such as, for instance, a witness or for purposes of prosecution." The Senate report used almost identical language.

CRITICS of the Hungarian program contend the listing of examples in the reports expressed congressional intent and that Congress never contemplated the use of the section to admit political refugees.

Parolees, unlike the refugees who entered with visas, have no permanent status in this country. Congress probably will have to pass additional legislation to "legalize" permanent residence for them in the United States.

The question of Communist infiltration applies more to those who came into this country under refugee visas than to the parolees.

Rep. Walter has charged that the visas were given to the first group of refugees who came out of Hungary after the Budapest uprising. He contends the evidence indicates most of these refugees were Communists fleeing the wrath of the people.

The Justice Department asserts the refugees are being adequately screened and that any reds who got mixed up with the freedom fighters will be caught.

Call For Self-Discipline

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Is an economic collapse coming in America? Is it a matter of a few months or a year or two? Are there already some signs of crisis?

These questions are asked because of the very pointed statements made in the State of the Union Message to Congress by President Eisenhower concerning the effects of the wage-price spiral now moving slowly but surely toward some kind of economic climax.

Buyers of all kinds of goods have been worried about the absence of any brakes on wages and prices. The two big economic forces — management and labor — have had the field all to themselves and no restraints have been applied by government.

Hence President Eisenhower has made an appeal for self-restraint. He uses the word "discipline" and means, of course, self-discipline. For the government is not prepared as yet to apply any restrictive measures against the organized greed that is gradually depreciating the purchasing power of the American dollar.

In many respects, Mr. Eisenhower's message on this phase of the economic outlook is the most important and the strongest that has been delivered since the depression days of the 1930's, when appeals were constantly made for voluntary action to help stabilize the economy.

THE PRESIDENT sees a peril in terms also of the national defense. He says that "any program that endangers our economy could defeat us." But the passage that needs to be read over and over again by the American people and especially by the managers of business and labor unions is as follows:

"The national interest must take precedence over temporary advantages which may be secured by particular groups at the expense of all the people.

"In this regard I urge leaders in business and in labor to think well on their responsibility to all the American people. With all elements of our society, they owe the nation a vigilant guard against the inflationary tendencies that are always at work in a dynamic economy operating at today's high levels. They can powerfully help counteract or accentuate such tendencies by their wage and price policies.

"Business in its pricing policies should avoid unnecessary price increases especially at a time like the present when demand in so many areas presses hard on short supplies.

Of course, a reasonable profit is essential to the new investments that provide more jobs in an expanding economy. But business leaders must, in the national interest, studiously avoid those price rises that are possible only because of vital or unusual needs of the whole nation.

"IF OUR ECONOMY is to remain healthy, increases in wages and other labor benefits negotiated by labor and management must be reasonably related to improvements in productivity. Such increases are beneficial, for they provide wage earners with greater purchasing power.

"Except where necessary to correct obvious injustices, wage increases that outrun productivity, however, are an inflationary factor. They make for higher prices for the public generally and impose a particular hardship not only on the active workman but on those whose welfare depends on the purchasing power of retirement income and savings.

"Wage negotiations should also take cognizance of the right of the public generally to share in the benefits of improvements in technology.

"Freedom has been defined as the opportunity for self-discipline. This definition has a special application to the areas of wage and price policy in a free economy. "Should we persistently fail to discipline ourselves, eventually there will be increasing pressure on government to redress the failure. By that process freedom will step by step disappear.

"NO SUBJECT on the domestic scene should more attract the concern of the friends of American working men and women and of free business enterprise than the forces, latent and active, that threaten a steady depreciation of the value of our money."

This is the first time in a long while that an American president so pointedly has called on management and labor to consider the importance of the entire national economy—the public interest—above their own group interests.

It is an appeal to the good sense as well as self-interest of those who today wield tremendous power in the economic arena.

If the appeal isn't heeded and an emergency develops, restriction by government order on prices as well as on wages will become inevitable.

This means controls such as America in wartime and Britain, even since the war, have had to impose to avert national disaster.

Dividend In Stocks

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A spurt in payment of dividends in stock instead of cash is a running mate today of tight money. Many companies like the idea because it saves cash for use in the business during a period when outside cash is hard to get and costly.

Many stockholders like it, too. Cash is subject to the income tax while the extra stock, when sold, may become a capital gain. Like its cousin, the stock split, the stock dividend makes the portfolio look fatter, although critics point out that the stockholder's share of the assets is actually unchanged.

In 1956 about 1,000 corporations paid all or part of dividends in stock—three times the number in 1955—for a total market value of 1½ billion dollars. In the last 10 business days of 1956 there were 35 stock dividend declarations.

The reason usually given for the stock dividend is that the company thus retains more money for future growth without either expensive borrowing or dilution of present stockholders' equity by selling new stock to outsiders.

Some companies—like Eastman Kodak, Gulf Oil, Cerro de Pasco and Reynolds Metal—combine stock and cash payments fairly regularly.

If the stockholder wants cash he can sell the stock dividend. If he wants to wait in belief that expanded business will catch up with asset value despite the temporary dilution, he can.

Historically Important

History may become a more popular subject in schools of the future if recommendations of two Fresno (Calif.) State College history professors are given wide acceptance.

Only 13 dates are important enough to be remembered by the average American citizen — and 40 are sufficient for college students — Dr. Francis A. Wiley and Dr. Clair E. Nelson maintain.

The 13 dates they believe should stay with a person for life are:

1. Discovery of America in 1492.
2. The Protestant Reformation of 1519.
3. Settlement of Jamestown in 1607.
4. Introduction of slavery and the first legislative assembly of 1619.

5. Coming of British sovereignty over much of North America in 1763.
6. Declaration of Independence in 1776.

7. Establishment of government under the American constitution in 1789.

8. Rise of the common man's participation in government, 1828.

9. The American Civil War, 1861.

10. The war with Spain, 1898.

11. World War I, 1914.

12. Depression of 1929.

13. Entry of America into World War II, 1941.

Those are the 13 events that should be kept in their chronological order for a reasonably good understanding of events, say the two professors.

Father And Son Dialogues

"Popper, is America going to send soldiers into the Middle East?"
"Could be my son. A soldier today is a tourist in uniform and on KP duty on the side. He never knows in what war he will unpack next."

"Will Congress give the President the authority he asks to use troops there?"

"It will do so after a war in Congress that will be noisier and hotter than any war in Europe or Asia. I would not be surprised if the United Nations had to send in observers to determine which side was the aggressor, the Democratic orators or the Republicans. Dag Hammarskjöld may yet be called in to stop the fighting."

"BUT, POPPER, have we got an army big enough to cover Korea. West Germany and all the trouble spots in the Arab world?"

"I wouldn't think so, but the old-fashioned standards as applied to territory are out. Once upon a time you could send troops off at the local depot knowing they were going to a war that you could locate easily. When you see boys depart today you may be wishing them luck in countries you never heard of in any detail."

"Didn't the U.S. vote to denounce the British and French for taking military action in the Middle East? How does it make sense for the United States to propose to take the same military action there now?"

"My son, you will bring on dizzy spells asking questions like that. Run out and play with the boy next door."

"DADDY, SUPPOSE the U.S. should land troops in a Middle East situation and the Communies should demand that the United Nations ask immediate withdrawal?"

"Skip that one, sonny boy, and don't ask me what position India would take."

"Daddy, ain't Nasser mostly to blame for the recent trouble?"

"I would say he is doing everything but teach camels to goestop. He looks to me like a dictator in Sphinx's clothing. His word is as good as his whim. That's the trouble."

"Popper, I just read where Dean Acheson said we are proposing to fight forces that are not going to attack, with military forces we haven't got to back up a foreign policy that hasn't been determined. What about that?"

"It sounds to me more like Adlai Stevenson and I think Dean got an assist from him. But it is the best crack of the year. Now run out and play like I told ya!"

KING SAUD of Saudi Arabia is to visit Washington . . . There's a fellow who can pour oil on troubled waters with minimum effort and expense.

50 Flee Fire In Fairbanks

1 Man Dies, 14 Others Injured

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Near 50 persons escaped by leaping into nets or climbing down shaky ladders in 51-below-zero weather Sunday as a midday fire sent clouds of acrid smoke swirling through the city's largest apartment building.

One man died and 14 others were injured, including two women whose spines were fractured as they leaped into fire nets. The others were overcome by smoke or suffered cuts.

More than 300 persons were believed in the new nine-story Northward Building. Although the fire was confined to the basement, heavy clouds of smoke swept up elevator shafts and stairwells to fill the halls and seep into apartments.

Stanley A. Davis, apartment manager, said, "nobody who stuck to their rooms was in danger." The building, largest in Fairbanks, is fireproof, he said.

The only known death came to a man who sought to escape by climbing to the building roof, only to find the door locked against him. He died on the stairway. Firemen identified him as William Stebbins, owner of a bar and a prominent West Coast restaurant owner.

One woman tossed her heavily-bundled 6-month-old baby seven floors to a net below and then jumped after her. Both escaped serious injury.

The 220-apartment Northward has a population of about 700, but nearly half of the tenants had left the building to attend church or go to work.

Fire Chief E. B. Woodcox said damage to the building would amount to $10,000 or $15,000.

Daniel Quits Senate To Take Texas Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—The resignation of Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex) Tuesday to become governor of Texas raises once again the possibility that Republicans may take control of the Senate.

This could only happen, however, if retiring Gov. Allan Shivers names a successor to Daniel who would vote with Senate Republicans, and makes the appointment stick. Shivers, though a Democrat, has supported President Eisenhower.

Republican Leader William Knowland of California already has given notice that any time the GOP can muster 48 votes it will take over control of the Senate.

That would require a tiebreaking vote in favor of the Republicans by Vice President Nixon. With Daniel's vote, the Democrats now have a 49-47 edge in the Senate.

Democrats say they are confident that if Shivers names a successor to Daniel, he will pick a senator who would vote with the Democrats.

BREATH OF LIFE — A new type of artificial respiration, designed for immediate treatment of gas casualties and resuscitation of drowning, electric shock or suffocation victims is demonstrated by medical aid men at the Army Chemical Center in Edgewood, Md. The device consists of a modified Army gas mask, an anesthetic mask, two hoses and a purification canister. As the rescuer inhales, air is drawn into the purification canister (on victim's chest), purified and trapped in the hose leading to the anesthetic mask placed over the victim's face. When the rescuer exhales, the purified air is forced into the victim's lungs.

E. Liverpool Mayor Finds He Can't Believe Everyone

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Arnold Devon is convinced Joseph Faganau was giving him a snow job.

Recently the mayor got a letter from Faganau, who identified himself as a Romanian living in a refugee camp near Rome. He wrote that he had worked five hours shoveling snow for the city of East Liverpool in 1933, but got so cold he quit without collecting his $1.80 in wages. He could use the money now he wrote, to get a dictionary for his son who wanted to learn English.

The mayor circulated the letter around city hall and started a collection for Faganau. He bought a $5 dictionary and sent it to Faganau this week.

Then the Review, the local newspaper, spotted a squib distributed by The Associated Press dated in Casper, Wyo. Same Faganau, it seemed, wrote Mayor Tom Nicholas of Casper that he had shoveled snow for five hours in 1933, and didn't collect his $1.80, and needed a dictionary for his son. . . .

Mayor Devon said he will return the money he has collected. As for the dictionary, the mayor laughed. He's glad it wasn't an Atlas.

Hearing Begins On Who Gets Wable Reward

PITTSBURGH (AP)—U.S. District Court begins a hearing today to decide who is legally entitled to $11,000 reward money posted for information leading to the capture of the Pennsylvania Turnpike slayer.

Officers of the Cleveland Police Relief and Pension Fund and 14 individuals, four of them Ohioans, have filed claims to the money which was posted by Pennsylvania trucking interests.

The reward money was offered after two truckers were shot to death on the Pennsylvania toll road and another was critically wounded. All were sleeping in their rigs when they were shot. John Wesley Wable of Ohio, Pa., was arrested and charged with the shooting. He was convicted of one killing and executed in the state electric chair last Sept. 26.

The reward money was turned over to Federal Court when legal disputes arose as to who was entitled to it.

Ohioans filing claims to the money include Mrs. Leora Crissey Siburt, Wickliffe, Ohio, a former girl friend of Wable; Samuel Scragg, Euclid, Ohio, operator of a pawnshop where Wable pawned a watch allegedly taken from one of the victims; P. C. Higdon of Lancaster, Ohio, and J. R. Plants of Clayville, Ohio, who furnished descriptions of Wable.

Four Motorists Fined $660 By Lisbon Mayor

LISBON — Four motorists were fined a total of $660 and costs over the weekend by Mayor Wilbur Warren on traffic charges.

Ovid Goodlin of Kensington RD was fined $350 and costs and given 10 days in jail for driving while intoxicated. This was his third drunk-driving offense.

Charles V. Camp, 30, of Canton and Gene C. Howell of Youngstown, were each fined $150 and costs and given three days in jail for driving while intoxicated.

Jack Steitz, 37, of 116 W. Pine St. was fined $10 and costs for excessive speed.

Camp and Steitz were arrested by state highway patrolmen, and Goodlin and Howell were cited by village police.

INAUGURAL PROGRAMS—Anne Spivey, receptionist at the Board of Trade in Washington, D.C., is overshadowed by a towering supply of official programs for the Presidential Inauguration Jan. 21, which will follow the formal oath-taking next Sunday. For the first time, souvenir programs have been made available to persons outside the capital proper. They're selling at $1.10 per copy.

SALEM GIFTS FOR JAYCEE PRESIDENT—Junior Chamber of Commerce National President Wendall Ford, of Louisville, Ky., at left, smiles with pleasure at the two gifts he was presented this weekend by the Salem Jaycees at the Jaycee state meeting in Youngstown.

The gifts included a Cherry Hill Rocker and a Youngstown Kitchens dishwasher, both donated to the Jaycees by the Salem members which manufacture them. Pictured with the gifts are Salem Jaycee President George Equizi, at front right, and Salem Jaycee State Director Ed Maruca, rear right.

The gifts were formally presented to Ford at a luncheon Sunday at the Pick-Ohio Hotel, attended by 750 Jaycees and their wives.

Saturday night, the Salem Jaycees operated a "hospitality room" at the hotel, with about 650 Jaycees and their wives from throughout Ohio visiting the room for refreshments and to examine the gifts. The Dan Dee Potato Chip Co. donated potato chips and pretzels as refreshments for the room and the Conway Music Co. of Salem provided Hi-Fi music. Ed Maruca and Dick Calvin served as chairmen of the Jaycee gift committee. About 30 Salem Jaycees and their wives attended the state meeting.

West District Again Moves For Release

A delegation of West Local School Board members will attend a meeting of the Columbiana County Board of Education Saturday — another move in the West school district's fight for release from the county system in order that it may join the Minerva district.

West Local is reported on the brink of bankruptcy as the result of its fight with the county system.

West voters in November turned down a school operating levy of six mills — a one-mill renewal and five additional mills. The defeat left the district with only 9.2 mills for school purposes. Moreover, it will lose $29,300 because it does not have the required 10 mills for participation in the State Foundation Program.

At the West board's meeting last Tuesday, a motion for a special election for six mills died for want of a second. The motion was made by Olan Sanor, only board member opposed to leaving the county system.

President Donald Baxter said the board again adopted a resolution asking the county board for release, and sent a copy to every county board member.

Baxter said the majority of West district people are in favor of seeing the fight through to the finish, even if it means closing the school.

Mothers Of Twins Club Will Meet Thursday

Civil defense will be the program theme of the meeting of Mothers of Twins Club Thursday evening at 7:30 in the K of P Hall.

Miss Patty Ehrhart will present a series of pantomimes, and hostesses will be Mrs. Lowell King and Mrs. John Yuhaniak.

Arrested Motorist Breaks Arm At Jail

Clarence (Ted) Taylor, 55, of Winona was admitted to the Central Clinic Saturday night for treatment of a fractured left forearm suffered in an accident at the city jail following his arrest at 8:30 p.m. on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Chief of Police George T. Earley reported that Taylor protested as he was being led by Patrolman Norman Flick to a cell and grabbed hold of a door with his left arm. The door pulled shut on his arm, the officer said.

Taylor was taken to the hospital after he complained later of his arm hurting. Capt. Howard Forney and Patrolman Flick had arrested the driver on S. Ellsworth Ave. after noticing his car weaving about on the street.

They reported that the defendant was given an intoximeter test and then charged with drunken driving. The police report stated that Taylor said he had never been in jail and wasn't going now. It was then that he grabbed hold of the door, Chief Earley said.

Will Hear Of Work With Crippled Children

Harry Eberhardt of Columbiana will speak on the Columbiana Rotary Club's crippled children's work at the noon dinner meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday in the Memorial Building.

Thomas A. Moore is program chairman.

INITIATION SCHEDULED

Graduates will be initiated at the meeting of Midway Grange Thursday evening at 8 in the grange hall.

The meeting was originally scheduled for Saturday.

on the superroad this morning were reported normal.

Some secondary roads were reported closed by snows in north-eastern Ohio, main roads were kept open, although some were slippery with ice and snow.

Hard-working crews had the Ohio Turnpike clear and for the most part dry by late Sunday night.

The snow was indirectly responsible for three deaths in the Cleveland area. One of the victims, 34-year-old Edward Hovanetz, collapsed while putting chains on his car as he prepared to take his children coasting.

Dies Shoveling Snow

Harvey A. Schmitt, 67, died while shoveling snow at his home. Dominic Rossi, 73, apparently suffered a heart attack while walking through heavy snow to church, police said. Rossi was found dead in St. John's Beckwith Memorial Presbyterian Church.

High ground in suburbs east of Cleveland caught as much as 18 inches from Wednesday evening, when the first storm started, until Sunday evening when the second storm finally abated. Lake County had 18 inches, and some Geauga points reported 20 inches.

The snow was followed by another sharp drop in temperatures, with the mercury down to zero in Cleveland early this morning.

The weather bureau predicted that the cold snap—and the piles of snow—will hang on in northern Ohio for a few days.

Most of Ohio got some snow over the weekend, with about one inch reported in the Columbus area.

Army Orders Compulsory Duty For National Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today defied strong opposition from the National Guard and ordered compulsory six months active duty training for all new Guardsmen.

Secretary of the Army Wilber

Brucker announced that the new policy will become effective April 1. He said it had been recommended by the chief of staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, over the "non-concurring view" of the National Guard Bureau.

The National Guard Assn., which speaks for the 405,000 members of Guard units in the states and territories, last week denounced the Army training plan. Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh president of the Guard association, told a reporter today that the Army and the Pentagon "might as well face the fact that they have not heard the last word on the issue from the states and that the Guards' strong opposition will be taken to Congress, where the matter will be settled."

Walsh, serving notice that he has called for a meeting here of Guard officials and commanders from all the states and territories, said the Defense Department has failed to "sell" its six-months training program for reservists and now is trying to "foist it on the Guard."

Heretofore, new members of the National Guard could volunteer to take six months active duty training, and several thousand have done so since the fall of 1955 when the new reserve program started. But this training was purely voluntary for new Guardsmen just as it was for pre-draft youths who signed up as reservists and thus exempted themselves from the draft.

700 Attend Baptist Dedication Services

About 700 persons gathered at dedication services of the $74,000 First Baptist Church educational annex held Sunday in the church.

Dr. Paul Judson Morris, executive secretary of the Ohio Baptist Convention of Granville, spoke on "Counting the Cost" at the formal dedicatory program during the morning service.

Rev. R. J. Hunter and Robert Hammill participated in dedication ceremonies, along with the congregation.

"What Mean These Stones?" was the subject of Rev. A. Laten Carter, president of the Salem and Vicinity Ministerial Association and pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, at the evening service which culminated the day's observance. Rev. Frederick McKnight, pastor of the Locust Grove Baptist Church and moderator of the Baptist Wooster Association, presented a prayer and greetings from the association.

Hammill presided when various church groups were recognized. Greetings are presented from the Ministerial Association members, the Holy Trinity English Lutheran Church, and the Ohio Baptist Convention. The Carol Choir and Senior Choir presented musical selections.

The Woman's Christian Service League of the church served a luncheon during the afternoon open house.

Fadely will provide any information the companies may need on providing samples and making their bids.

Fire Forces Evacuation Of Rest Home

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin Sunday forced the evacuation of 21 persons, most of them bed patients, from the Sun Valley Rest Home three miles west of here.

The blaze was confined to the attic and three rooms on the second floor of the two-story frame structure by the Alliance and Washington township fire departments, but the remainder of the building was damaged by smoke and water. Damage was estimated by firemen at $25,000.

T. W. Tullys and Dewey Middleton, Alliance firemen, were treated at City Hospital here for minor injuries suffered fighting the blaze.

The patients, ranging in age from 24 to 90, were moved to a nearby annex by staff members and volunteers after Mrs. Pauline Brimlow, the head nurse, detected smoke on the second floor and sounded the alarm.

The Bolsheviks, with Lenin as premier, ruled Russia from 1917 until 1924. In that year Joseph Stalin came into power.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

"Edwards" is a powerful and elusive underground figure — a man of many faces and many shapes and given to handing out many curt orders. He has been ashort, baggy-tressed man, bespectacled and arrogant. He has been taller and stronger and less intellectual than the short, pudgy man who was known as Gerhart Eisler.

You see, "Edwards" is the code name so frequently used by the "Comintern Rep." That's the representative of the Communist International in the United States, the man who gives orders from Moscow to American Communists.

Last Friday night "Edwards" was slender, gray and in his mid-fifties. He should have been fatigued for he had just completed the long journey home from Peiping to New York City.

He walked into a night spot in fashionable Bronxville. He telephoned one of his Communist contacts, it is said. Then two FBI agents quickly stepped alongside him.

REPORTS INDICATED he gave his name as "Edwards." But the FBI agents knew whom they had been talking.

"Edwards," this time, was Irving Potash, former member of the Communist Party's National Committee, formerly one of its top labor specialists and formerly a leader and power with the Fur and Leather Workers Union, which grew out of the might of a gang of knife artists known as the "Black Gloves."

Irving Potash had slipped back into the U.S. after almost two years of exile — he had been deported voluntarily to his native Poland on March 4, 1955.

After being briefed in Moscow and China and handling some propaganda work for the Communist International in Asia, he was reassigned to the U.S. — as "Edwards."

Potash had all of a week in the U.S. — which means that the FBI knew every step he made. But the FBI is not telling, so we can only guess why this latest "Edwards" returned to the U.S. well loaded with orders from Moscow and with Soviet money — in American dollars, of course.

When Potash-Edwards was examined by the federalists he had about $500 in bills on him and undoubtedly a cache of more — so now you know what happens when you pay out U.S. currency for Russian furs, crab meat or caviar.

IT IS AN EDUCATED guess that Potash was here to whip the American Communist labor leaders into line.

It is also a good guess that he was just one of the many couriers dispatched by the Kremlin into other democratic lands where the Communists' labor apparatus has been cracking like a new Moscow apartment house wall.

In England, for example, Communist leaders in the powerful miners' electrical workers' and engineers' unions have defeated Communist newsmen openly criticize their former party.

In France the Communist-controlled General Confederation of Labor (CGT) can't call an effective strike — and the intellectuals are running from the party like Floridians from a frost.

In Italy, the Communist labor federation, CGIL, can't win a union election. Without this labor support, the Communist parties of these lands must disappear. There will be no respectable front to shout Moscow's propaganda or sabotage the lands.

ALL THIS I documented in London last week. America is no

A Saint On Earth

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If there is a saint now living on earth, many feel it is a gentle giant of the mind and heart who dwells deep in Africa and will be 82 years old today.

He is Albert Schweitzer, a strong multiple — genius who, following a mystic sense of self-dedication, left Europe in 1913 to found a hospital at Lambarene in French Equatorial Africa.

Even then he was famous as a philosopher, theologian, historian, and world renowned organist. His work as a medical missionary added to his stature. So did his massive "Philosophy of Civilization," written, ironically, in a jungle clearing at night when his hospital chores were done.

But his ultimate immortality rests on a three-word creed he flung into the face of the most murderous generation the human race has produced, his insistence on a "reverence for life."

Dr. Schweitzer, famed among scholars, remained to the man in the street little more than a legendary figure in far off Africa. But in 1950 a group of leading artists, writers and musicians of 17 countries acclaimed Dr. Schweitzer as "the man of the century." In 1952 he was awarded the Nobel award for peace.

Accepting the $33,200 prize, which he applied toward improving housing for 250 lepers in his hospital, the sturdy, buffalo-moustached doctor explained his philosophy in these words:

"You don't live in a world all your own. Your brothers are here, too."

Pilgrims of all kinds and from many lands have journeyed to visit this disturbingly kind philosopher, who, instead of stepping on the ants at his feet, puts down food for them.

What is he really like? The world will soon be able to see how he works and lives, in a biography filmed by Erica Anderson, a Vienna-born photographer, and produced by Jerome Hill, grandson of James J. Hill, the railway titan.

"He lives with utmost simplicity," Mrs. Anderson said. "His favorite food is onion soup. He hasn't smoked since he was 25, nor does he take hard liquor. Once, while he was visiting America, a lady insisted, 'oh, one cocktail in your life won't hurt you.' And he took the glass politely and said, 'very well then — the only cocktail in my lifetime.'"

"He doesn't like to ride in cars

Basement Rooms Becoming Popular Recreation Center

A new dimension in "subterranean" living enjoyment for home owners is being stimulated by big families and a decided swing to home-centered recreation.

The basement, once used only as a place for the furnace and storage of mother's fall preserves, has been transformed into a popular center of many family activities, according to Otto F. Wenzler, architectural consultant of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company.

"The compact, functional construction of today's space-economy home, designed to utilize every available foot of area for practical purposes to meet the needs of growing families, has transformed the basement into a bright, cheery location for the workshop of the do-it-yourself enthusiast, the family laundry and a recreation room, complete with lounge chairs, a snack table and TV for the young members of the family," said Wenzler.

"This arrangement provides for noise insulation of the play area from the more formal living areas of the home."

Realizing the powerful resale value of homes having a finished basement, Wenzler points out that builders are including tile floors, spacious windows, built-in laundry facilities and in many cases, a fireplace to add a cheery note to the recreation room.

Large windows, set at ground level in the foundation, admit an increased amount of natural light. Glazed with insulating glass, they give year-round-all-weather protection, reducing heat loss in winter and heat gain in summer. In movable sash, the windows may be opened for ventilation.

According to Wenzler, movable partitions of patterned glass are another popular feature in contemporary "activity" basements.

"In sections such as the do-it-yourself workshop, for example, where additional space is often needed to accommodate a large project, movable patterned glass partitions can be arranged to give the necessary working area, effectively screening the section from the remainder of the basement without stopping the passage of light," Wenzler said.

Baby Sitter Carries A Custom Too Far

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — The practice of holding something in lieu of payment has been going on for a long time, said Justice of the Peace C. B. Carroll, but he told a woman who came into his office that she was carrying it a bit too far.

The woman told Judge Carroll she had been a baby sitter for a Denison couple and had not been fully paid for her services.

She said she had been holding a woman's two babies trying to get the mother to come across with the money.

The judge told her to get the babies home to their mother before she had more to worry about than some money owed her.

Choose Wall Material With Care When Finishing Room

By ANDREW C. LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Few persons give enough attention to the proper selection of wall materials when it comes time to build a finished room in the attic or basement, add an extra room to the house or put up new walls in an old room.

Most of the time the choice of a particular material is made because it looked good in someone else's house . . . or in a showroom . . . or because a neighbor or a relative used it and recommended it.

These reasons are all right in their way — and should have some bearing on your decision — but the ultimate selection should be based on your own needs. The room you are finishing may be used for an entirely different purpose than the one you admired, which might make the wall material in the already completed room highly impractical for you.

Many on Market

There are many dry wall materials readily available to the retail purchaser these days. Each has its own characteristics . . .

Home Repair Dos, Don'ts

USING A HACKSAW
AP Newsfeatures

DO . . . be certain on placing a hacksaw blade in the frame that the teeth point away from the handle.

DO . . . use blades with 14 or 18 teeth per inch for cutting hard metal of fairly thick stock, those with 24 and 32 teeth per inch for light tubing and sheet metal.

DO . . . always have the metal in the vise so that the line being cut is fairly close to the vise jaws — and always file a notch in the metal as a starting point.

DO . . . bear in mind that a hacksaw cuts only on the forward stroke, therefore release your pressure as you bring the blade back.

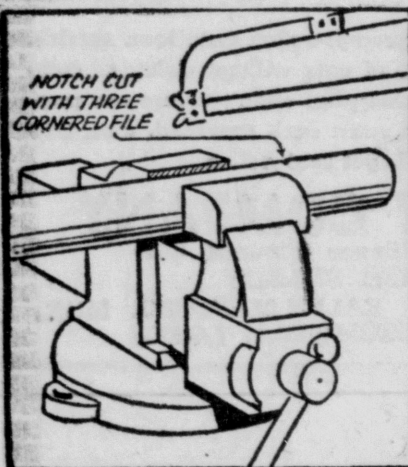

DON'T . . . try to resharpen a hacksaw blade, since it cannot be done satisfactorily; always keep extra blades on hand to replace dull and broken ones.

DON'T . . . overlook a trick used by professionals to determine whether the proper tension is present. Pluck the blade lightly after setting it in place. A slight hum means the blade has the correct tension.

DON'T . . . try to chop your way through the metal. Use a long, sweeping stroke, with the blade in a straight line on the stock.

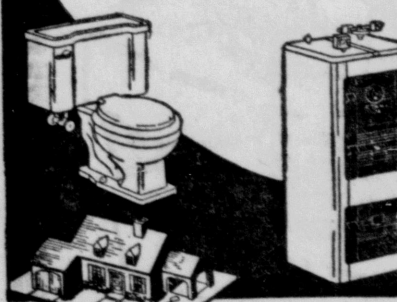

DON'T . . . try to save money by buying cheap blades, a good one that costs a little more will give far better service and last much longer.

MAKE a notch first.

and it's the wise buyer who knows why he is spending his money for a particular type of product.

Gypsum board, the least expensive of these materials, is a form of plaster covered on both sides with strong paper. It is sometimes erroneously referred to as plaster board, a term which accurately describes another kind of material used by professional plasterers. Besides being inexpensive, gypsum board has the greatly desirable feature of being fire resistant. Although durable under normal usage, it can be dented if a hard object is pushed against it. Most kinds of gypsum board must be painted or papered and the seams filled with tape and cement. Gypsum board costing a bit more can be obtained with special finished surfaces which require neither paper nor paint.

Asbestos cement board is a first cousin of gypsum board, but is priced about twice as high, which is still less than many other wall materials. This is made of asbestos fibers and portland cement pressed into rigid panels. It is fireproof and water resistant, making it excellent for laundry rooms, bathrooms and furnace enclosures.

Next we come to fiber or insulating board. It looks something like gypsum board, but has no plaster in it. Its base is composed of wood fiber, sugar cane residue or some other fibrous vegetable material. It is not fireproof, but is more fire resistant than wood and it has good insulating qualities. Reasonable in cost, it once was made only in white, but now is available in many decorative colors and designs. Its disadvantages: it will not stand up for a long period of time where there is high humidity, such as in a damp basement — and it is susceptible to dents and bruises.

For those who like wood, there is a choice of plywood or solid wood paneling. Plywood, with a price range from the inexpensive to the very expensive, is a tough material made of laminated sheets of real wood. The most common variety is fir plywood, which has a wild grain which must be tamed with the use of a special sealer. Plywood can be obtained in many other wood facings — pine, birch, maple, walnut, oak and so on. The mangle, the facing, the more the plywood costs. And if you don't want to bother finishing the plywood, and are willing to pay extra, you can get prefinished panels. Some types come with grooves and special metal clips that eliminate nailing.

Wide Price Range
Solid wood paneling also has a wide price range. Look over what is on hand at your local dealer, as you sometimes can get a good buy on a type of wood which happens to be available in large quantities at the moment. To some persons, nothing has the warmth and homey appearance of solid wood paneling.

Hardboard is made of wood fibers bonded in hydraulic presses. It has a smooth surface without grain, but is of great strength. The tempered variety, only a couple of cents more than the standard, has an exceptionally hard surface which resists moisture and will stand up under almost any kind of pounding. While it can be nailed or screwed or glued to another surface, it does not serve as a nail or screw base itself. Slightly more expensive types of hardboards come with a leather finish, simulated tile or with perforations to serve as a utility panel or wall.

There are many other dry wall materials on the market . . . with plastic facings, striations or irregular grooves, flake veneers and others. In fact, it's a difficult matter to keep up with the many different varieties. That's why it's so important to look around before you make your choice.

MINIMUM EXCAVATION is needed for this modern split level house. The large recreation room under the bedroom wing is less than half a story below grade. Smartly contemporary in design, this house covers only 945 square feet—an economical size to build. Vertical siding blends with the tall windows of the extra-high living room. This is plan R-409AP by Alfred Ryder, architect for the Progressive Plan Service, 324 Citizens Bldg., Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

A Tight Home Can Last Generations

Older homes never die, they just live on in stately grandeur when properly maintained.

One thing is certain, the West Coast Lumbermen's Association observes, a well built frame home will outlast several generations. The big thing is to keep the roof tight, to apply an occasional coat of paint to the siding, and to keep the foundations in repair.

Homes framed 100 years ago in tough and durable Douglas fir lumber are still in active use. About half the nation's framing lumber is fir.

Maintenance is the secret to long life.

Q — What are "wiggly nails?"

A — Correctly, they're not nails at all, but rather small pieces of flat wire resembling corrugated iron. Available in either plain or saw-type edges, they're used mainly to tighten loose joints in furniture, woodwork and screens.

HOT WATER HEAT

Steady gains in the installation of hot water heating systems in homes are reported by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. In the first six months of this year, 80,745 cast iron heating boilers were shipped by manufacturers, compared with 78,457 in the corresponding period of 1955.

It's Normal For Trees To Shed Needles

By HENRY PREE

Every year homeowners become alarmed about pines and arborvitae dropping their needles. It is normal for these trees to shed their three-year-old needles at this time of year.

On certain trees, notably white pines, some two-year-old needles are dropping as well. This has made the needle shed heavier than usual, and is sometimes accompanied by a yellowing of the trees.

According to Rush P. Marshall, director of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories, this excess drop is due to last summer's drought, and the trees are now adjusting the number of needles going into winter with their water balance.

Both pines and arborvitae should go into winter with ample moisture around their roots to prevent drying out under winter winds. The needles that fall should remain at the foot of the tree for mulch and insulation. Some one once estimated that if an eastern white pine retained all its needles, at the end of 10 years it would be so dense that not even an insect could crawl through its foliage.

Several good concentrated stimulant fertilizers are made for use in the soil of house plants. They are clean, easy to apply and bring about quick results.

Potted plants seem to need more stimulation than do their garden cousins, for several obvious reasons, chiefly lack of sunlight.

House plants appreciate some fresh air every day. Protect them from the drainage hole in the bottom should be guarded against.

as it is likely to lead to sour soil that is insufficiently aerated.

A good soaking once a week is better than a little each day. Apply enough water until it drips from the drainage hole in the bottom of the pot.

You can have an abundance of growing flowers in the house with very little trouble by planting paper-white narcissus in pebbles and water.

Lily-of-the-valley pips do well when planted in bowls filled with moistened, special bulb fiber obtained from your florist. When visiting him investigate the lovely hyacinth in its special glass holder.

Salem Rolls Over Ravenna 88-47 For 7th Season Win

13 Quakers Score In Tilt

Salem Will Meet Girard Here Friday

By MARK MILLER

Salem's Quakers chalked up their seventh straight victory Saturday night as they easily whipped Ravenna's Ravens 88-47, in a game played on the locals' floor before about 1,400 fans.

The Quakers had little trouble from their opponents as they presented Coach John Cabas with the 200th victory of his coaching career. In this span of victories Cabas-coached teams have lost only 72 games for a respectable 73 percentage.

Salem left Ravenna at the post as the Quakers rushed to a quick 15-0 lead in the first period before the Ravens could even score.

THE RED AND BLACK made 14 of 17 field goals during the first period for a 82.3 average, and also sank three free throws to lead at the end of the quarter 31-9.

Ravenna just couldn't seem to stop the Cabasmen who continued to mesh baskets in the second quarter to add another 16 points. The Ravens scored only four points in that period, and at intermission Salem led 47-13.

In the third stanza the two teams battled evenly, with the Quakers edging the Ravens 19 to 18, and at the end of the period the Cabasmen led 66-31.

After the opening period Cabas used his second stringers throughout the rest of the game, and 13 players got into the scoring column.

SALEM PLAYERS shot 73 times and made good 36 field goals for a high 49.3 average, and they mesh-shots for a 66.6 average.

Ravenna attempted 56 field goals and hit on only 11 of these, for a low 19.8 average, but from the foul line they scored on 25 of 40 charity tosses for a respectable 62.5 average.

Five players scored in double figures for the Red and Black, with Dick Beall leading the way with seven field goals out of nine shots for 14 points and a 77.7 average.

Ted Jackson tallied five field goals and two foul shots for 12 points; John Stephenson sank four baskets and three fouls for 11 points; Mark Fenton hit on five field goals for 10 points; and Lou Slaby meshed the nets for four field goals and two fouls for 10 points.

DICK POPE was high scorer for the visitors, netting five field goals and four free throws for 14 points, and teammate Tony Samoco hit on two field goals and seven charity tosses for 11 points.

The Ravens have now lost eight games in a row after winning their opening game of the season against their alumni.

Salem's next game will be at home Friday night against Girard.

'Sugar' Hart Favored Over Johns Tonight

By MURRAY ROSE

The Associated Press

They're calling Garnett (Sugar) Hart the "new" Sugar man in boxing but the old Sugar, Ray Robinson, will be rooting for Hart to get knocked out tonight at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

Hart, a glittering, 21-year-old welterweight prospect from Philadelphia faces Gene Johns of New York in the television (Dumont-TV, 10:30 p.m., EST) 10-round at the ancient arena. Johns is a protégé of Robinson's.

Nearly six years ago, George Costner, another Philadelphian, was called "Sugar" because his style, like Hart's resembled that of Robinson. Robinson rubbed out that pretender personally, flattening Costner in one round.

Ohio Conference Race Develops Into Dog-Fight; Denison Leads

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Although the Ohio college cage season is about half over, Miami and Denison appear to have the Mid-American and Mid-Ohio conference championships tucked away.

But the Ohio conference scrap has developed into the greatest dog-fight the 14-college circuit has witnessed in years, with Denison holding the top spot by the most narrow of margins.

Miami breezed past Western Michigan 84-79 last week for its sixth straight loop win. In the stretch, the Redskins have topped every team in the league with the exception of Ohio U. Defending champion Marshall is second with a 3-1 mark.

Denison handed Ohio Northern its first Mid-Ohio loss Saturday, 88-83. That gave the Yellow Jackets a 5-0 loop record, with wins over every conference foe except Findlay which is tied at 3-1 with Wilmington and Ohio Northern. Denison, with 8-0, is the state's lone unbeaten college. All the other 39 having fallen.

But last week's most startling deeds were turned in by Denison's Big Red. After losing 83-80 to Capital in the Ohio conference opener, Denison had toppled Ohio Wesleyan, Otterbein and Hiram—a trio which has a combined record of three wins in 16 conference games.

Muskingum and Mt. Union had gone into last week heading the loop with 3-0 records. Akron blasted Muskingum 114-74 at New Concord in a Tuesday fray, to leave the Mounts up there all alone. Wednesday Denison handed the Mounts a 76-75 setback, the one-point moving the Big Red into a tie with Capital for the lead at 4-1.

Saturday night Capital and Denison tangled, and the Big Red, showing the punch in the pinch, came up with another one-point overtime win, 88-87. Now Denison is 5-1, with Muskingum and Mount Union next with 4-1, and with the Big Red getting a crack at the Muskies next Saturday.

Ohio State, idle after its 75-68 win over Purdue last Monday, eased into the Western Conference lead with a 2-0 mark as the other contenders fell Saturday. But the Bucks entertain Minnesota tonight and Michigan State Saturday—and they must win to stay up there.

The two Big Ten frays are part of a 49-game schedule which finds the Ohio clubs meeting 16 out-of-state teams. Also on the slate are five games in the Mid-American, 11 in the Ohio Conference, four in the Mid-Ohio and one in the Presidents' loop. John Carroll handed Wayne an 82-80 overtime setback Saturday to move out front in the Presidents' circuit with a 3-0 mark—the first loss Wayne has suffered at the hands of a Cleveland opponent.

The Buckeyes won 14 and lost

10 interstate games last week, giving them a season record against outsiders of 78 victories, 55 losses and a scoring edge of 10,246 to 9,604. Hosts won 28 of 49 during the week, running the home floor advantage to 131 to 79 for the campaign.

Wildlife Management Is Hotly Argued Subject

Hunting, Fishing Problems Become Concern Of Millions

By DION HENDERSON

First of a Series

Associated Press Staff Writer

There are more wildlife management problems indoors than there are outdoors these days.

The flannel-suited members of the ecological community figure in more unusual behavior patterns and mysterious conflicts than the furred and feathered fellows.

What's the inside story of the outdoors controversies that are bursting suddenly into bitter quarrels in state after state?

The wildlife management experts, who collectively operate a multi-billion dollar recreational industry for some 25,000,000 Americans annually, are dedicated to the proposition that recreational benefits are largely secondary—a bonus for proper management of soil and water and forest resources.

Widespread misunderstandings of programs, methods and even purposes have handicapped wildlife administrations almost from the time the nation's first chair in the science of game management was established at the University of Wisconsin in 1933 for Aldo Leopold.

The new ecological scientists—those dealing with the mutual relations between plants and animals and their environment—were gathered together in "conservation" departments, a term that became a misnomer about the time the science was born, for its cardinal principle involved production of fish and game as a crop to be harvested like any other crop, in contrast to non-renewing mineral resources.

In 24 years, research technicians—operating in a field where nearly every native American since Dan'l Boone considered himself an authority—have not let a year pass without telling their fellow citizens a number of things to be told, and frequently unwilling to be shown.

This applied not only to hunters and fishermen, who traditionally know a great many things that aren't true, but also farmers and agricultural specialists, industrialists from lumbermen to cheesemakers, engineers, ranchers and practically everyone else with a stake or an interest in the world of nature.

That didn't leave out many people.

Eventually, the ecologist and the agronomist may agree that there is no need for a collision of interest in their basic aims.

Lands that will not grow forests or game cover won't grow corn; rivers dried to dusty gullies will no more irrigate crops than they will nourish fish. But fitting the little pictures of specific use into the big picture of land and water management comes slow, and cooperative agreements among users of the land have scarcely begun to emerge in any workable pattern.

Meanwhile, the task of producing more and more fish and game for more and more hunters and fishermen, on less and less suitable acreage becomes a staggering assignment.

Ernest E. Swift, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation puts it this way: "The rank and file of the American people do not have the basic understanding of the conservation problems which are facing them."

And for this lack of understanding that extends even to those who should be his most militant friends, the wildlife professional must bear a substantial part of the responsibility himself. He has learned many wonders of the world during the past two decades, but he is in trouble now because during that time he did not learn how to share his knowledge with the people who pay the bills.

(Next: Some of the troubles administrators brought on themselves.)

Delany Underweight, Won't Run In Boston

BOSTON (AP)—With Olympic champion Ron Delany out of action under doctor's orders, the mile man for the 31st Knights of Columbus track meet at Boston Garden Saturday shapes up as a spirited contest between seven lesser-known competitors.

Delany, who sped to the metric mile crown in Melbourne, is 12 pounds underweight and will not compete with his Villanova teammates. Reports indicate he will be held out of all competition until the end of the month.

Phil Coleman from Chicago is one of three Midwesterners who will give it a try. Coleman was timed in 8:47.8 in a pre-Olympic two-mile race which was a native record for an American runner. He is joined by Ted Wheeler and Deacon Jones, former University of Iowa stars.

Iowa State To Battle Jayhawks

By ED CORRIGAN

The Associated Press

Iowa State gets a chance tonight to prove it was 'no fluke' when it scared the daylight out of Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain and his Kansas hotshots before dropping a one-point decision in the Big Seven conference basketball tournament in December.

The Jayhawks, undefeated in 12 games, pulled that one out 58-57 with Chamberlain held to a miserly 12 points. The Kansans also got a scare from Kansas State Saturday before finally pulling it out 51-45. But in this one the seven-foot Stilt from Philadelphia dropped in 30 points.

North Carolina, which is giving Kansas a tussle for the top spot in the weekly Associated Press poll, moves into action against a weak North Carolina State team Tuesday night in quest of its 15th straight.

Two other members of the top 10 play tonight and neither should have any trouble. Col. Adolph Rupp's Kentucky outfit, a distant No. 3 in the poll, visits Tulane in quest of its 10th triumph against two defeats. Vanderbilt, No. 6, plays Mississippi State.

Meanwhile, the picture in some of the major conferences began to clear, but in others, like the Big Ten, there was no telling what was in the works.

The Big Ten has only one undefeated team—Ohio State (2-0). Indiana, Minnesota and Northwestern all suffered their initial league defeats Saturday.

Big Seven—No contest. Kansas, 3-0, leads.

Atlantic Coast—North Carolina the big choice with a 5-0 in conference play.

Southeastern—Kentucky is 2-0 in league play, but so is Alabama.

Pacific Coast—UCLA seems headed for another league title, although it now is tied for second with Washington, each with 4-0.

Southwest—Southern Methodist is living up to preseason expectations—3-0 in the league and 13-1 over-all.

Ivy—The oldest championship in the country is still very much in doubt. Princeton leads with 3-0 but Dartmouth, Columbia and Yale are right behind with 2-1.

Rocky Mountain—A familiar name, Idaho State, is racing to ward its fifth straight league title. Skyline—Brigham Young heads the pack with 3-1 and has high hopes of winning. But it will have to overcome defending champion Utah (2-1).

Missouri Valley—St. Louis and Oklahoma A&M, the early favorites, have been disappointing, leaving the door open for Bradley (3-0) to take over.

Boston—Arthur Persley, 137½, Red Cross, La., outpointed Willie (Pineapple) Stevenson, 140, Boston, 8.

West's Field Goals Defeat East 19-10

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The large foot of big Bert Rechichar of the Baltimore Colts is the reason the West now holds a 4-3 edge over the East in the annual Pro Bowl game.

Four times the former halfback from Tennessee tried for field goals and made them.

The ball traveled for distances of 52, 44, 44 and 41 yards.

and conversion, was more than goals, coupled with one touchdown. The 12 points from the field season battle between the hand-picked squads of the Western and enough to give the West a 19-10 victory over the East in the post-Eastern conferences of the National Football League.

The East's Sam Baker of the Washington Redskins contributed a prodigious one himself, also for 52 yards.

The 4,177 fans also saw a spectacular 79-yard pass play executed by Green Bay's Tobin Rote and Billy Howton, with the Chicago Bears' Harlon Hill sandwiched in between.

They saw a dangerous Ollie Matson, Frank Gifford, Hugh McElhenny, Rick Casares, all of the offensive platoons, and as deadly a defensive duo as there is in pro football, Jack Christiansen and Jim David of the Detroit Lions.

There were six fumbles, three to a side, but they came from aggressive tactics, not sloppy performance.

The first fumble led to a quick West touchdown. Los Angeles Ram Paul Miller hit Matson so hard he lost the ball and Detroit's Joe Schmidt recovered on the East 12. Casares hit for seven and four and his Beat teammate Ed Brown added the final yard.

Mount Union Rips Ohio Wesleyan 89-73

Mount Union's Purple Raiders trounced Ohio Wesleyan 89-73 Saturday night in a game played on the Ohio Wesleyan floor.

Trailing 39-37 at halftime, the Purple Raiders rallied in the final two stanzas, with Salem's Harry Baird leading the way. Baird tallied 21 points for the victors.

Bill Roof and Bruce Pumphrey tallied 19 points apiece for Mount Union, and Gene Richter meshed the nets for 25 points for the losers. Richter made 15 of his points via the charity circle.

The Purple Raiders now have a season record of 7 wins and 4 losses.

Mount Union—89
Talbert 2, 6, 10; Kemp 3, 2, 8; Roof 8, 3, 19; Pumphrey 5, 9, 19; Baird 8, 5, 21; Gottschling 2, 0, 4; Richards 3, 0, 6; Demyanovich 0, 2, 2; Davis 0, 0, 0; Nemenz 0, 0, 0; Sensten 0, 0, 0.

Unbeaten OSU Faces Tough Minnesota

By JOE MOOSHIL

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State, the only undefeated basketball team in Big Ten play, takes on revenge-minded Minnesota tonight and faces the possibility of dropping as low as fourth place in the hectic race.

Minnesota was tagged with its first loss Saturday night as Iowa's twice-beaten defending champions came up with a surprising 89-66 victory. Indiana and Northwestern also suffered their initial setbacks.

Purdue held Hoosier star Archie Dees to 15 points and won 70-64. Michigan edged Northwestern, 64-63, on a basket by Ron Kramer and Illinois moved back into contention with a 79-63 drubbing over Wisconsin.

While Minnesota and Ohio State will be battling it out in tonight's feature, Indiana goes to Illinois. Wisconsin will be at Michigan and Northwestern will engage Purdue at Lafayette.

Minnesota's loss to Iowa was simply a matter of height. Boosting an average two-inch height advantage, Iowa moved into a 42-29 halftime lead over Minnesota to win with ease while Tom Payne, Jim McConnell and Clarence Wordlaw combined for 70 points. Payne had 26 and McConnell and Wordlaw added 22 each.

George Bon Salle, Illinois' leading scorer, popped in 21 points in leading the Illini to an easy victory over Wisconsin which has yet to win a Big Ten game in three starts. Brian Kulas and Bob Lit-zow gave the Illini some trouble in the first half but that was the extent of Wisconsin's threat.

Purdue turned in a 37-point second half to wipe out a 36-33 Indiana lead and move into a four-way tie for second place along with Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. Lamar Lundy, the 6-6 football star, paced the Boilermakers with 15 points while little Joe Campbell and Bill Greve added 13 each.

Joe Ruklick poured in 27 points for Northwestern but Michigan flashed a balanced attack with five players scoring in double figures to edge the rangy Wildcats.

Revenge-Minded Salem JV's Blast Ravenna Squad 89-50

By BOB JULIAN

Coach Karl Zellers and his Salem High School JV's, taking out on the Ravenna Ravens revenge for their lone defeat which came at the hands of Warren Friday, clobbered the Ravens 89-50, Saturday night on the Salem hardwoods to give the locals a 6-1 record for the season.

The Quakers jumped out to a 20-10 first quarter margin and upped that lead to 63-24 at intermission.

During that high scoring first half, the Zellersmen attempted 56 shots from the field and pumped in 29 for a percentage of 51.

To start the scoring, Moe Meissner hit on two of his 11 long set shots, which netted him 22 markers for the night, to move the Quakers into a 4-0 lead which they maintained throughout the evening.

MEISSNER POPPED in five baskets from around the quarter pole for 10 markers in the stanza. He shared scoring honors with big Lou Slaby who tallied 22 points in the period.

Starting the second frame, the Red and Black kept the points coming, with little Butch Platt and Meissner hitting on all angles from the floor. Platt tallied eight markers to 12 for Meissner, and out of 33 tallies the Quakers scored, Platt and Meissner had 20.

Ravenna was completely outclassed in the initial half as the Quakers ran wild. The Ravens didn't score a field goal until less than a minute was left in the first period. The Ravens had considerable trouble getting their shots away.

IN THE REBOUNDING department in the initial half, Salem controlled both boards, grabbing 27 missed shots to 13 for the Ravens. To start the second half Coach Zellers pulled out his entire first string, comprised of:

Meissner, who tallied 22 points to take scoring honors for the evening although playing only two quarters and who shot a blistering 61 per cent from the field.

Slaby, who was right behind Meissner in the scoring with 17 tallies; Platt, who contributed 14 points.

Darryl Adams, who chalked up eight markers; and Tom Lease, who also saw action in the second half and gave a good account of himself by his all-around play.

Coach Zellers inserted a new team which had trouble getting going at first but still managed to drop in 10 markers to 16 for the Ravens in the stanza. The Quakers maintained their large lead and at the three-quarter mark were in command 73-30.

AT THE OUTSET of the final period, the Quakers moved out with three markers and advanced their lead to 37 markers, 77-40 before Ravenna took hold and traded baskets with the Salemites right down to the wire. The Quakers dumped in 16 markers to 10 for the Ravens in the stanza.

The second half saw the Ravens battle the Red and Black on even terms. Both teams netted 26 tallies and divided the rebounding chores, with each team coming up with 23 loose balls in the half.

Salem attempted 96 shots from the field and connected on 40 for a percentage of 41. However, on the charity stripe they tried 29 tosses and scored only nine for a low percentage of 24.

Ravenna attempted 55 shots from the field and hit on 19 for a percentage of 34. At the charity line

Goshen, E. Liverpool N. Lima, Lowellville Win Basketball Games

Goshen Union edged Springfield 52-50, North Lima crushed McDonald 68-49, Lowellville ripped Canfield 56-33, and East Liverpool trounced Bellaire 76-65 in cage games played Saturday night.

Springfield led at the end of the first period 10-3, and they also held a 29-17 lead at the intermission. But the Goshers rallied and took over the lead, 35-33 just before the buzzer sounded at the end of the third stanza.

Roger Wyss led the winners with 19 points, but the high scorer of the evening was Dave Ohlin of Springfield with 30 markers. The game was played on the Goshers home floor. The win was the ninth against one loss for Goshen.

North Lima, playing at home, trailed at the end of the initial stanza, 13-12, but they found the range in the second period and meshed the nets for 20 points, while limiting their opponents to six points. At the half the Zippers led 32-19.

In the third quarter McDonald tallied 15 points and the Zippers hit the nets for 10 markers, and at the end of the period North Lima still held the lead 42-34.

Dick Evans led the victors with 26 points, and Jack Telego paced the losers with 16 points. The victory was North Lima's third in 12 starts.

East Liverpool, playing on their home floor, rushed to a first period lead of 25-12, and increased this total to 43-31 at the intermission. But in the third stanza Bellaire rallied and scored 24 markers, while limiting the Potters to 13 points, and when the period ended the score was Liverpool 56, Bellaire 55.

Going into the last two minutes Bellaire grabbed the lead 65-64 and threw a scare into the Potters. But the Liverpool quintet tightened up their defense and tallied 11 markers while holding the Bellaire five scoreless.

Phio Hayes led the winners with 21 points followed by teammate Bill English, who tallied 19 markers. John Wilkes of Bellaire was high scorer with 31 points. It was the sixth win for East Liverpool in eight tries.

Lowellville had little trouble in capturing their 10th victory of the season against a single setback. Lowellville rushed to a 20-4 first period lead over Canfield and increased its margin to 39-9 at the intermission. At the end of three quarters Lowellville held a commanding lead 50-15.

Eugene Slaven hit the nets for 18 points for the winners, and Dale Gromley and Jim Watkins had eight points apiece for the losers.

Madonna Draws Many To Art Gallery

SAUSALITO, Calif. — A wooden Madonna was still packing the people in at the Marine Art Gallery here today.

Clara Bass carved the Madonna out of a piece of driftwood she found on a beach. The 10x20 inch carving was placed on a wall in the gallery. A sticky substance began flowing slowly down from the right eye of the face.

Miss Bass says she may have hit a resin duct in the wood during the carving, and that the sap started running when the wood was hung in the warm gallery. Most of the people who come to see it are only curious. But she said a few have knelt before it.

Rising Young Scientist Kills Self In Lab

CINCINNATI — Investigators today tried to piece together the reasons why a rising young scientist, found dead in his laboratory, wanted to kill himself.

The body of researcher John L. Dolphin, 28, was found by police late Sunday night after he made a long telephone call to his mother in Syracuse, N. Y., talked despondently about suicide, then hung up abruptly.

His mother called a priest she knew here who relayed the information to police. Officers found him dead in his laboratory at the Taft Sanitary Engineering Center. Dolphin was a physical chemist, concentrating on problems of air pollution and the deputy officer in charge of the center, L. E. Flanagan, said he was a "very promising" scientist.

Flanagan could shed no light on the reasons why Dolphin would want to commit suicide. Police said they also turned up no motive.

Officers said they found no marks of violence on the researcher's body and planned to learn the cause of death from an autopsy today.

14 In Ohio Die In Accidents

3 Children Playing In Ice, Snow Killed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fourteen persons met accidental death in Ohio during the weekend, including three youngsters playing in the snow and ice.

A teen-ager drowned in Dayton when he slipped through thin ice while skating, and two little girls—one in Canton and the other near Elyria — crashed on sleds into autos.

An Associated Press survey, which began Friday at 6 p.m. and ended Sunday at midnight, showed that eight of the fatalities died in traffic mishaps.

A 41-year-old woman and a six-month-old baby died in fires. One man lost his life in a game of Russian roulette. A baby suffocated while in an automobile basket. And a man died of asphyxiation when pinned under his car after jacks holding up the car slipped.

The fatalities:

Friday night: Mary Patricia Bernhard, four months, Columbus, apparently suffocated in a car basket.

Mrs. Florence Des Lauriers, 56, Columbus, in a head-on auto collision on Ohio 3 at the Ashland-Wayne county line.

Charles Williams, 24, Warren, victim of a game of Russian roulette.

Saturday:

Mrs. Iva Stubbs, 41, Coshocton, burned to death when fire destroyed her three-room frame house.

Barbara Linn Mohley, 16, Sherwood, and John Chauncey Flory, 18, after a truck-car collision on U.S. 17 2 near Sherwood in De-fiance County.

Arthur N. Myers, 43, Canfield, of asphyxiation when pinned under his car after jacks holding up the car slipped.

Sunday:

Bill Reeves, 20, Seneca, when the car in which he was riding hit a parked car at Coal Grove.

Clinton Sparks, 28, Dayton, when his car hit a utility pole in Dayton.

Frank Hafner, 16, Dayton, drowned in Great Miami River, Dayton, when he fell through thin ice while he was skating.

Donna G. Sands, 4, Centerberg, when the sled on which she was coasting was hit by a car in front of her home near Elyria.

Durkee Ankrum, six months, Ridgeville, in a fire that destroyed his family's three-room home.

Verna Snyder, 13, Canton, when her sled rammed into an auto in Canton.

Miles Farle, 30, Marietta, in an auto accident about seven miles north of Marietta on Ohio 7.

Kensington

The Booster Auxiliary met last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Ralph Orsborn. Officers elected were: President, Anne Archibald; vice president, Elizabeth Orsborn; secretary, Martha Merri-man; assistant secretary, Dora Mae Clapsaddle; and treasurer, Betty McKarns. The meeting is February 5 at the home of Mrs. Paul Smith.

Approximately 45 persons attended the annual fellowship supper and meeting at the Christian Church annex last Monday.

Mrs. Wilbur Amon, Mrs. Otto Beall, and Mrs. Mell Milburn have been on the sick list.

Mrs. Evelyn Loutzenheiser and Mrs. Nora Roach were callers in Minerva Tuesday.

Thanks

For the past 29 years it has been my privilege and pleasure to serve the people of Salem at The Smith Co. 240, East State Street and I would like to express my thanks to many friends and customers.

Having sold The Smith Co. to Stephen A. Bartha, who was employed by me for several years (and the best butcher I have ever known) I believe that Steve will continue the same quality and service that has built the reputation of The Smith Co. as a quality store.

Salem and its citizens have been responsible for the success I have had and I am deeply grateful. Thanks again.
